BIOGRAPHY

During his motivational speeches, he shares what changed his worldview, who embraced him, and what altered his life choices. Incorporating many of the same "Next Level" strategies for change, he not only broke free from his environment but graduated college within three years, broke three football records, and was honored on the Allstate Good Works Team (1 of 23 in the USA). Today, Kaymon owns several successful businesses, has authored 2 books, and is set to release an "Build apps Without Code" program. Kaymon's passion and life's work are to help students and teachers become the best version of themselves.
